Introduction

Welcome back for another Exercise, with me writing every single thing in L<sup>A</sup>T<sub>E</sub>X. I am happy to announce, that i have finally found the period that we were looking for. I have also fired that unpaid intern that deleted all our data last time.

THE FORMAT

- Every file will be named similar to the sections in here, so `2.1-stack_exercise.c` is Exercise 2, section 1.
- Every Solution WILL be in this pdf, but not necessarily anything predefined by the exercise.
- Any explanation will be both in this PDF as well as in each file.
- This explanation will be in each PDF, in case someone who doesn't know the format tries to correct the exercises
- WARNING: Humor may or may not be used. If you are allergic to humor, that sounds like a personal problem.
- WARNING: Backing up your data is important. Although linux doesn't have the necessary shame to remove itself, unlike windows, please do back up your data. And try to keep track of your periods...they seem to be notoriously hard to find
